

Figure 2. Preliminary results. Black dots represent overall means with 95% CI error bars (uncorrected). Smaller dots represent individual data points, with observations from the same individual connected by grey lines. The distribution of responses is depicted beside the individual observations.